NIGHTRIDERS AGAIN RAMPANT.

Burn Wilson's Warhouse at Golden Pond Between the Rivers.

ANARCHY IN TRIGG.

Shot at People Who Attempted to Leave Their Houses.

Night riders to the number of twenty or more went to Golden Pond, in Trigg county, Tuesday night and set fire to a tobacco warehouse operated by Mr. Wilson for Wm. Bogard, an independent buyer. The men were masked and heavily armed. People who came to their doors were driven back by shots and one house shot into several times. The warehouse with its contents, about 8,000 pounds, was entirely destroyed, upon which there was no insurance.

The wires of the Cumberland Telephone Co., were cut as soon as the incendiaries began their work. Golden Pond is between the rivers, about five miles beyond Canton, Trigg county.

BIG CONTRACT

Closed For Concrete Around the Latham Homestead.

Mr. John C. Latham has contracted with the Meacham Construction Co., for about 10,000 feet of concrete pavements, to be constructed on the street fronts and inside walks of the Latham homestead. The work will be done during the month of August and will be under the personal supervision of Rodman Y. Meacham, who is familiar with the New York methods of constructing concrete sidewalks. The materials will all be the finest to be obtained and nothing will be spared to make it the best piece of concrete paving in Western Kentucky.

FIVE DEATHS

In Goodwin Family Within Two Years.

A telegram was received here by Mr. Albert White yesterday announcing the death of Mrs. Maria Goodwin, wife of Mr. Thomas Goodwin, at her home in Anson, Texas. She had been ill of pneumonia for several weeks. The deceased was a daughter of the late W. S. Goodwin and the oldest sister of Mrs. Albert White. She was reared near Cerulean but had lived in Texas about twenty-five years. She is survived by her husband. This makes the fifth death in the Goodwin family within the past two years.

NEW BILLETS

For the Police Force Made by W. D. Ennis.

W. D. Ennis, of the Hopkinsville Lumber Co., has made eight billets of orange orange and presented them to Officer Joe Claxton, who will in turn present them to the police officers. The work is done in the very best style and the sticks are of regulation size, of bright yellow and heavy enough to be used as a most formidable weapon. The weapon is one very seldom called into service by the Hopkinsville officers, but since it is necessary to carry a billet, or billy as it is best known, it is well enough to have a good one. Mr. Ennis will receive the thanks of the whole force.

Pioneer Expressman, Shelby Warfield, col., the oldest express driver of the city, died yesterday at noon, aged 75 years.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

LANDER-ADCOCK.

Christian County Boy Marries at Campbellsburg.

The marriage of Hugh J. Lander, son of Mr. J. W. Lander, of Church Hill, and Miss Maud Adcock, of Campbellsburg, Ky., occurred Tuesday afternoon. Following the ceremony the young people were tendered a wedding supper by the parents of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lander came to Louisville, where they were given a box party at the Mary Anderson theater. The young people are now at the home of the groom's parents, where they will spend a few days before going to housekeeping at Newstead.

The bride is eighteen years old, possesses numerous accomplishments, and is very popular in the town in which she was reared. She is a 1906 graduate of Campbellsburg college and is also a graduate of music.

Mr. Lander is 23 years of age and a fine young business man. The statement that he had recently sold out his interest in Lander Bros.' store at Campbellsburg was a mistake. The store at that place is their main store and the one to be opened at Newstead in May will be a branch of that establishment.

MANY OF MOST

Representative Women of Conference Will be Here.

The Woman's Home Mission Society which is to meet in this city from May 12-15 will have in attendance many of the most representative women of the Louisville Conference of the Methodist Church. The president of the Conference Society, Mrs. Kendall, is noted for her great zeal in the work, and it is hoped that we will also have present Miss Belle Bennett, the president of the General Board of the Woman's Home Mission society. She has done much great work for the mountain schools at London, Ky., and is well known and honored throughout all Methodism. It is hoped that the whole town will be interested in these meetings, and give the ladies a royal welcome.

Notice to Let Contracts.

I will, at my office in Hopkinsville, Ky., on May 7th, 1907, let to the lowest and best bidder, contracts for the construction of two abutments for the new bridge across Little river, near Concord Church, about two miles North of Hopkinsville, on the road leading from the Greenville road to the Madisonville road; and also two abutments for a new bridge across the McFarland creek, seven miles East of Crofton, on the Lacy coal road.

I will receive sealed bids and reserve the right to reject any and all bids. This, April 22nd, 1907. W. J. Murphy.

Keeling Berries

Last week we received a few. This morning another lot. Shortly they will arrive daily. All Hopkinsville people know Keeling Berries.

GREAT TRIP IS IN STORE

For the Victors in the Kentuckian's Jamestown Contest.

RACE GETTING WARM.

Votes Being Cast by Parties From Nearly Every State.

The Jamestown contest is booming and the vote is increasing with each day. The published figures only show the ballots cast, but there are many coupons being issued which will be voted and counted later. Friends of the various contestants are at work and in the wind-up there will be a very heavy vote to be counted. Now is the time to prepare for a pleasant outing during the coming summer, and there is no easier way of obtaining it than the one outlined by the Kentuckian in this contest.

MISS LEDLIE LOGAN.

The above is a picture of Miss Ledlie Logan, who resides in South Christian, near West Fork. Miss Logan is one of seven contestants in district No. 2, in the Jamestown contest, and at present stands third in the list. She is developing strength with each count, and it now looks as if the race in this district will prove one of the liveliest of the four in the county.

STANDING APRIL 24.

The standing of contestants on yesterday at noon was as follows:

TWO WEDDINGS.

One at Crofton and the Other at Kelly.

Oscar Underwood, a young Kelly farmer, and Miss Julia White, of the same neighborhood, were united in marriage last night at the home of the bride.

On Tuesday a marriage license was issued W. C. Maddox and Miss Marian A. Reynolds. The young people reside near Crofton and the wedding is scheduled for to-night.

MEETING OF TOBACCO MEN

Executive Committee of Dark District Will be Held Here.

HOLD TWO SESSIONS.

Over 100 New Members in County Received in Ten Days.

To-day will be a notable day with the tobacco men, as for the first time this year the Executive Committee will hold its meeting here. There will be two sessions, an open meeting in the circuit court room this morning and an executive session at the same place in the afternoon.

Several speeches will be made by men prominent in the affairs of the Dark Tobacco District Association. The officers of the association were expected to arrive on last night's trains and most of the members were also expected. Those who failed to make connections will arrive this morning over both railroads. Committeemen from 25 counties in the district will be here. The names, so far as we have been able to obtain them, are as follows:

Dr. J. W. Dunn, of Robertson; Polk Prince, of Montgomery, Tenn.; E. E. Wash, Trigg; John W. Hollowell, Caldwell; Gen. Bradley Wilson, Hopkins; Capt. W. J. Stone, Lyon; Swan, Murray; Miller, Marshall; E. C. Usher, Graves; Lawrence, Ballard; J. B. Jackson, Logan; Dr. Claypool, Simpson; Reams, Fulton; Sumners, Weakly; Camp, Todd; and W. W. Radford, of this county. Mr. Radford, is chairman of the county committee.

Hon. C. H. Fort, of Robertson county, is President of the Association; Mrs. N. E. Green is Secretary, and Mr. George Snaden is Treasurer.

W. E. Fraser is Assistant General Manager and C. C. Reynolds in General Inspector.

The Advisory Board consists of J. W. Dunn, Polk Prince and J. B. Jackson.

Mr. F. C. Jarrett, of this city, is salesman.

The amercement is stronger in Christian county today than it ever has been. New names are being enrolled every day, and during the past ten days over 100 new members have signed the pledge. Higher prices seems to be the motto of the association, and while prices are so much better now than at anytime, a big advance is being planned for the next crop put on the market.

Below we give report of sales by Salesman Jarrett up to this date. Farmers will find much in it to inspire them in holding fast to the organization that secures them about double what they have received for their tobacco for many years past.

Receipts of types for sale, 2,500 hhds Sales to date..... 500 hhds Lugs, common to good.....$61 to $83 Leaf, com. and med. $3 to 1 1/2 No good or fine tobacco yet sold.

Our prices are fully 2 cents over any loose average sales. Our prices are 2 cents to 2 1/2 cents average above prices of last year.

Our sales will be as rapid as we can open the tobacco, as they were last season. We sold 7,500 hhds, here last year, from March 1st to Dec. 15th, not a hoghead being carried over.

All will be in the association in Christian county soon. In the past ten days over 100 who have never been with us have joined our ranks. C. F. JARRETT, Salesman.

K. P.'s Attention.

Evergreen Lodge K. P. No. 38, will meet to-night in regular session. Business of importance will come up and a full attendance is desired. The District meeting will be held here May 3.

PAWNEE BILL'S WILD WEST AND GREAT FAR EAST.

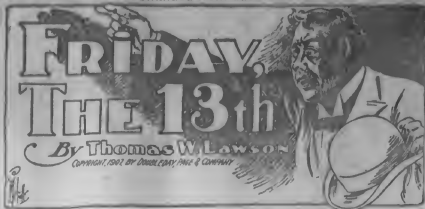

Two Performances to be Given in Hopkinsville on Saturday, April 27.

One of the Main Features of the Show is the Great Train Robbery.

Pawnee Bill's Historic Wild West and Great Far East will give two performances in this city on April 27. The enterprise has taken the road this year increased in size and scope and with the old tested routine eliminated from its program. "The Great Train Robbery," direct from its sensational triumph in New York city, is an exclusive feature of the entertainment. It will be produced with all the original magnitude and spectacular detail of scene and action. A regulation locomotive engine and a train of real passenger cars are employed for the first time in traveling amusement history. The piece depicts in two scenes the hold-up of a treasure-laden western express and abounds in thrilling dramatic movement. It is a radical departure from anything ever before exhibited under canvas. Pawnee Bill promises, in the other departments of this show, an improvement over anything before displayed. He has spared no effort or expense to bring his institution to the top notch of perfection. In variety and multiplicity his performance is a modern revelation, and his immense spread of covering gives comfort and shelter in all weather. A mile-long parade will inaugurate the day.

As to how Beulah Sands' code had affected my friend, I was ignorant. For the first time in our association I was completely in the dark as to what he was doing stockwise. Up to that Saturday I was the first to whom he would rush for congratulations when he struck it rich over others on the exchange, and he invariably sought me for consolation when the boys "upper-cut him hard," as he would put it. Now he never said a word about his trading. I saw that his account with the house was inactive, that his balance was about the same as before Miss Sands' advent, and I came to the conclusion that he was resting on his oars and giving his undivided attention to her account and the execution of his commissions. His handling of the business of the house showed no change. He still was the best broker on the floor. However, knowing Bob as I did, I could not get it out of my mind that his brain was running like a millrace in search of some successful solution of the tremendous problem that must be solved in the next three months.

Shortly after the October 1 statements had been sent out, Bob dropped in on Kate and me one night. After she had retired and we had lit our cigars in the library he said:

"Jim, I want some of that old-fashioned advice of yours. Sugar is selling at 110, and it is worth it; in fact it is cheap. The stock is well distributed among investors, not much of it floating round 'the street.' A good big buying movement, well handled, would jump it to 175 and keep it there. Am I sound?"

birds with one stone: win back a part of Judge Sands' stolen fortune— increase his own little pile against the first of January, when, if the little Virginia lady is short, a few hundred thousand of the necessary amount, he could, if he found a way to induce her to accept it, supply the deficiency; fatten up a good friend's bank account a millior or so, and do a right good turn for the stockholders who are about to be, for the hundredth time, bled out of profit rightfully theirs.

Bob was afe with enthusiasm, the first I had seen him show for three months. Seeing that I had followed him without objection so far, he continued:

"Well, Jim, I know the Washington buying his begun. All I know I have dug out for myself and am free to use it any way I choose. I have gone over the deal with Beulah Sands, and we have decided to plunge. She has a balance of about $400,000, and I am going to spread it this. I am going to buy her 20,000 shares and take on 10,000 for myself. If you want in for 20,000 more, it would give me a wide sea to sail in. I know you never speculate, Jim, for the house, but I thought you might in this case go in personally."

"Don't say anything more, Bob," I replied. "This time the rule goes by the board, but I will do better; I'll put up a million and you can go as high as 70,000 for me. That will give you a buying power of 100,000, and I want you to use my last 50,000 shares as a lifter."

I had never speculated in a share of stock since I entered the firm of

"I Have Gone Over the Deal with Beulah Sands, and We Are Going to Plunge."

"I agree with him. All right. Now what reason is there for a good, big sell-off? That tariff bill is up at Washington. If it goes through, sugar will be cheaper at 175 than at 110."

Again I agreed. "Standard Oil" and the sugar people know whether it is going through, for they control the senate and the house and can induce the president to be good. What do you say to that?"

"O. K.," I answered. "No question about it, is there?"

"Right again. When 26 Broadway" gives the secret order to the Washington boss and he passes it out to the grafters, there will be a quiet accumulation of the stock, won't there?"

"26 Broadway" is the Wall Street figure of speech for "Standard Oil," which has its home there.

"And the man who first knows when Washington begins to take on sugar is the man who should load up quick and rush it up to a high level. If he does it quickly, the stockholders, who now have it, will get a juicy slice of the ripening melon, a slice that otherwise would go to those greedy hypocrites at Washington, who are always publicly proclaiming that they are there to serve their fellow countrymen, but who never tire of expressing themselves to their brokers as not being in politics for their health."

"So far, good reasoning," I commented. "Jim, the man who first knows when the senators and congressmen and members of the cabinet begin to buy sugar, is the man who can kill four horses with Washington wires were wild, nor could sugar as soon as it began to jump. And it certainly looked as though the shares were good for the figures set for them by Bob, $14 at which price the Sands' profit would be $1,200,000. Bob was beside himself with joy. He dined with Kate and me, and as I watched him my heart almost stopped beating at the thought—"If anything should happen to upset his plans!" His happiness was satirical to witness. He was like a child, he threw away all the remorse of the past three months and laughed and was grave by turns. After dinner, as we sat in the library over our coffee, he leaned over to my wife and said:

"Katherine Randolph, you and Jim don't know what misery I have been in for three months, and now—well, tomorrow never comes, so I may get into the whirl and clean up this deal and send that girl back to her father with her money. I wanted her to tell me the judge that things looked like she would win out and bring back the relief, but she would not hear of it. She is a marvelous woman. She has not turned a hair today. I don't think her pulse is up an eighth tonight. She has not sent home a word of encouragement since she has been here, more than to tell her father she is doing well with her stories. It seems they both agreed the only way to work the thing out was 'whole hog or none,' and she was to say nothing until she could herself bring the word 'saved' or 'lost.' I don't know but she is right. She says if she should raise her father's hopes, and then be compelled to dash them, the effect would be fatal."

Bob rushed the talk along, flitting from one point to another, but invariably returning to Beulah Sands and to-morrow and its saving profits. Finally, he got to a pitch where it seemed as though he must take off the lid, and before Kate or I realized what was going on he placed himself in front of us and said:

"Jim, Kate, I cannot go into to-morrow without telling you something that neither of you suspect. I must tell you some now, now that everything is coming out right and that Beulah is to be saved; and whom can I tell but you, who have been everything to me? I love Beulah Sands, surely, deeply, with every bit of me. I worship her, I tell you, and to-morrow, to-morrow if this deal comes out as it must come, and I can put $1,500,000 into her hands, she will send her mother to her father, then, then, I will tell her I love her, and Jim, Kate, if she'll marry me, good-by, good-by to this hell of dollar-buying, good-by to such misery as I have been in for three months, and home, a Virginia home, for Beulah and I. He sank into a chair and tears rolled down his cheeks. Poor, poor Bob, strong as a lion in adversity, hysterical as a woman with victory in sight.

The next day sugar opened with a wild rush: "25,000 shares from 140 to 152." That is the way it came on the tape, which meant that the crowd around the sugar-pole was a mob and that the transactions were so heavy, quick and tangled that no one could tell to a certainty just what the first or opening price was; but after the first lull, after the going down there were officially reported transactions aggregating 25,000 shares and at prices varying from 140 to 152. I was over on the floor to see the scramble, for it was noised about long before ten o'clock that sugar would open wild, and then, too, I wanted to be handy if Bob should need any quick advice.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away.
Hopkinsville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Hopkinsville testimony to prove it. R. C. Moorehead, Sr., real estate dealer and associated with the Christian County Title Co., residing at 222 W. 17th St., Hopkinsville, says: "For several years the condition of my back and of the kidney secretions furnished ample evidence that I was suffering from kidney disorders. The aching in my back would come on by spells often, so severe that it was painful for me to stoop, to straighten up or to attempt any sudden movements. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised locally, and thinking that they might help me, got a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store. I had used them only a few days when I noticed a marked improvement in my condition, and I continued their use. They did me more good than any medicine I had ever used and that is putting it mildly. You may publish my statement any time and I will do all I can to let the value of Doan's Kidney Pills be known."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

In Memoriam.

Jacob Rudolph Anderson was born December 14th, 1820, and died at the home of his only child, Mrs. S.
M. Fraser, of Lafayette, Ky., on Feb. 12th, 1907.

He was usually active for one of his age until a few weeks before his death. He was a man of strong character and great energy, was faithful to his God, his church, his family and to all the duties of life.

His aged wife preceded him to the better world several years ago, and since then he had made his home with his son-in-law, S. M. Fraser.

The whole community loved and revered "Uncle Jake and Aunt Julia," as they were lovingly called by nearly all who knew them, and rejoice to think of their blessed reunion in their heavenly home.

He was the last surviving charter member of Sharon Cumberland Presbyterian church, and had been a ruling elder for many years, therefore we, the Elders, of Sharon church,

RESOLVED, that we deeply deplore our loss and grieve that we shall see his familiar form in his accustomed seat no more. His presence was a benediction, and his vacant place in our church none can fill.

Ripe in years and esteemed and loved most by those who knew him best, he has passed from among us, leaving behind him a life unspiced by dishonor, while the good he has done will live long after the grave has closed over him.

RESOLVED that we extend our sympathy to his beloved daughter, grandchildren and friends, and that we sorrow not as those without hope, and that we shall endeavor to emulate his virtues and shall cherish his memory as a rich heritage bequeathed to us who survive him.

RECORD NOT FAULTY.

Only Informality Was in Not Recording in Council Records.

The item relative to the record of omitted tax assessments in last issue, discussed by the council Friday night, has not been correctly understood by all who read it. The record was made in the collector's book and a report submitted to the council.
Through an oversight, the report was not recorded in the minutes, as it was not generally understood that it had to be recorded in both offices. Since the ordinance on the matter has been printed in the new book the mistake was discovered and will be corrected. It was passed a few years ago and had not been printed in the book of ordinances.

MRS. M. M. MARSHALL

Cataract of Digestive Organs and Bowels

MRS. MARY M. MARSHALL, Tipton, Mo., writes:

"I suffered three years with cataract of the digestive organs and bowels. I was unable to find relief, until as a last resort I was induced to try Peruna.

"I began the use of Peruna when I was confined to the bed and can say that I experienced benefit from the first dose.

"I have taken five bottles in all and believe that I am cured of my trouble. I am enjoying as good health as an old lady of my age could expect. My age is 77.

"I recommend your medicines to sufferers whenever I meet them, and some of my friends are using them with great success.

"I will always feel grateful to you for your grand medicine and kind advice and trust that many others may be as greatly benefited as I have been."

Pe-runa For Bowel Trouble.

Mrs. L. S. Tinker, 832 Second street, Macon, Ga., writes:

"Two years ago my grandson suffered with hemorrhages of the bowels and he was treated by different doctors, but without cure.

"We quit all other treatment, and began the use of Peruna, and after the use of three bottles he seemed to be quite well. He is able now to walk six miles to school every day.

"Peruna has certainly worked wonders for him, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it."

MISS ANNA CARSTEN

Miss Anna Carsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

"Your medicine, Peruna, did me so much good. I believe I should have been dead by this time if I had not used it.

"I am feeling so well now and have no trouble with my stomach. I have not taken any medicine for four or five months.

"If I am ever troubled with anything of the kind again, I shall take nothing but Peruna. I can cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

A Severe Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes:

"I cannot thank you enough for curing me. For two years I doctored my cough which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep.

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. I took it according to directions, and in a short while I felt better, and after I had taken a second bottle I felt entirely well.

"After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured, and therefore recommend this grand medicine to all who suffer with a cough as I did."

A Household Remedy.

Mrs. Colla Eibling, R. R. No. 2, Payne, Ohio, writes:

"I have better health now than I have had for years, and am fonder than I have ever been. I am so thankful to you for what you have done for me.

"I cannot praise Peruna enough. I keep it in the house. You have my sincere thanks for your advice.

"My husband is taking Peruna, now. He had such a cough he thought he had consumption, but he is getting better.

"He has taken it only one week and it has done him good."

MISS EVA SCHELLE

Miss Eva Schelle, 127 N. Quincy St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

"I unhesitatingly recommend Peruna as a splendid specific for catarrhal affections. I was a sufferer with this trouble off and on for a number of years and each fresh cold added to the difficulty.

"Finally I began taking Peruna for a cold and was glad to note that it was ridding me of the catarrh also. I continued to use it faithfully and the result was a complete cure in a very few months."

MRS. CHRISTINA CLOW

Mrs. Christina Clow, 411 E. Platte Ave., Colorado Springs, Col., writes:

"I have taken Peruna off and on for six years and have found it very beneficial in a great many ways.

"I took it for a cough and a cold, also for catarrh of the head, and it cured me. I took it for a tonic and it gave me strength. I have every reason to speak well of your medicine."

FAITH THAT CANNOT BE SHAKEN.

Despite everything that sensational magazines may say, the women of the United States continue to have faith in Peruna.

These women know a great deal more about Peruna than the editors who have, for selfish purposes, written against it.

These women have tried Peruna in their families. They have taken it themselves. They know it will help them.

They have suffered from various ailments, and Peruna has come to their relief, even when the doctors failed to cure them.

Such women cannot be convinced by any editorial spam that their favorite household remedy is a humbug.

Peruna goes right on in its conquest over disease. Its fame is spreading all over the earth.

Especially among American women is Peruna a beloved household remedy. It is entirely useless for anyone to try to dissuade them from the results of their own experience.

Peruna is a remedy for the mucous membranes. It therefore has a beneficial effect upon the internal organs of the body that are lined by mucous membranes.

For various chronic climatic diseases Peruna is a reliable remedy.

The testimonials concerning Peruna are given in the language of the people. We do not change or add to anything they may say concerning it.

The evidence is overwhelming that Peruna is a safe, reliable, invaluable remedy for the household.

Headache and Backache.

Mrs. Franziska Gaengel, Dominion 1, Old Bridgeport Mines, C. B., Canada, writes:

"I thank you for the benefit which I derived from Peruna. There may be many who are suffering from the same disease that I had, for which they have not yet been able to find the correct remedy.

"For the benefit of such persons I wish to say that I suffered with headache and backache and had a severe cough. I was in bed several weeks and could not do my work. I tried many remedies in vain.

"Then I consulted Dr. Hartman, who advised me to take Peruna and gave me further instructions, which I carefully observed.

"I felt better after taking the first bottle. I have taken several bottles now and am feeling so well that I can do all my work.

"I will never be without Peruna again, and recommend it to all."

Catarrh of the Stomach.

Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 6, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, and am sincerely thankful to you for your advice.

"It had not been for Peruna I would never have been well. I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me. I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it. I can eat and walk and work.

"Everybody says I look as well as I ever did. Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you! I have got several other people to take Peruna. I praise it to everybody."

A Visit to The Eternal City.

LETTER NO. 8.

MILLARD A. JENKINS

S. S. Arabic off Coast of France, April 9th, '07. The "Arabic" has become quite a pet with the large company of cruisers. It is really interesting to see with what joy they come back to her after a time away doing the cities and seeing the sights of the old world. The hotels are all good. Especially did we find ourselves pleasantly quartered in Cairo, and with only a few exceptions, in all the places we have visited.

Leaving Egypt, we set sail for Naples. On our way we passed some very interesting islands, among them Sicily. A number of us remained on deck till midnight to see the little volcano Stromboli. We saw it, but it was perfectly quiet. Next morning we steamed into the beautiful bay of Naples. Vesuvius was quiet. Naples was alive. When I saw Vesuvius before, she was very active. In fact I saw her only three days before her first eruption a few months ago. The people soon forget their danger when the volcano quiets down, and go on as before. The mountain does not look the same now, so greatly did the last eruptions disfigure it.

Naples is one of the most beautiful cities of the world for situation. It has been called a paradise. For natural beauty it is, but it is a paradise of devils. They are all liars and rogues by profession. They will steal your countenance. Remind me of the story of the old darkey, who had called in the doctor. Her old "Mises" had heard she was sick and had called. "Did the doctor take your temperature while here?" she asked. "I dunno honey what he must 'ave took. I ain mind nuthin' yet but my watch." So if you stay long in Naples you'll miss something.

The museum here is a marvel. It is said to be the greatest in the world next to that of the Vatican at Rome. The treasures from Pompeii are worth a visit to Naples.

Then Pompeii itself. About half of the city destroyed by the first great eruption of Vesuvius in the year 79, has been excavated. In what luxury they must have lived, and in what sin. A sad spectacle is the bodies of many who perished in the awful catastrophe which have been dug up, and are now to be seen at the museum.

A delightful day I had at Capri, an island near Naples, one which has played a great part in the history of this country in the past, and which I noted today as a resort for tourists. I could have been content here for many days. I confess I did not like very much the crowded streets—the busy life of the city. I like just such retreats as this now and then, where I can think, rest, worship.

The visit to Rome was one of the great events of the cruise. No three cities in the world have such interest for the traveler if he be a student, as Jerusalem, Athens and Rome—Jerusalem, center of religious thought; Athens, center of artistic thought; Rome, center of political thought. Of course these cities as they now stand, have no such claim. I speak of the position they held in past history.

Rome is interesting whether you study it as "Imperial Rome," "Subterranean Rome," "Medieval Rome," "Pagan Rome," "Papal Rome," or Modern Rome, if indeed I may be permitted to thus characterize it. No city in history is so many sided, stands for so much. No city has influenced the world as has Rome.

My chief interest in the visits I have made to Rome, three in number, has been chiefly in studying past history. I have lingered about the Forum, the Coliseum, the Parthenon, and coming down to a later day, St. Peter's, grandest of all the buildings to-day. With a peculiar fascination I have driven far out on the Appian way, visited St. Paul's, outside the walls, where it is thought the great apostle is buried, the Three Fountains, where it is thought he was beheaded, and then back to the city, to the old underground prison where he must certainly have been confined.

Here the lover of art never tires. For days he loves to linger in the Vatican galleries among the master pieces of both art and sculpture.

I was in Rome on Easter Sunday. In the morning before going to our little Baptist church, I attended the 10 o'clock service at St. Peter's. Cardinal Rampola had charge. Thousands of people thronged the vast building. But when you are told that 80,000 people may be accommodated at one time in this building, you don't wonder that the audience of 20,000 looked small. Well, it was a great show—that's the best I can express it. The people walked around as though no worship had been thought of. The organ was fine, so was the singing, but as a place of worship, there was only disappointment. At St. John Lateran in the afternoon, it was different. Such music! The service as conducted by the cardinal did not appeal to me, would not if I could have understood him, but my soul was lifted by the tones of that wonderful organ and the singing of that choir.

From here I went to the church of the Holy Stairs, the marble steps brought by Princess Helena from Jerusalem, and claimed to be the steps that led up to Pilate's judgment hall, down which the Savior walked when he was carried away to Calvary, and saw people by the scores climbing them on their knees, kissing each step, and saying a prayer to the Holy Virgin. It was up these same stairs Martin Luther was climbing, when it came to him that the just should live by faith. He walked down the steps, and went forth to shake the world.

Our last stop was at Villefranche, France. From here we drove to Nice and Monte Carlo. Here is some of the grandest scenery I have ever looked upon, and certainly the grandest road I have ever driven over.

Monte Carlo is the smallest principality in the world, being only thirty-five square miles. It belongs to the Prince of Monaco, and is ruled absolutely by him. The greatest gambling hell on earth here. Its sports are absolutely the principality, and pays $400,000 a year to the Prince. They average a suicide a day, and yet the suckers come from far and near to be hooked.

Our next port is Liverpool. The members of my party composed of Mrs. J. H. Anderson, Miss Margaret Anderson, Miss Lillian Donagan, Miss Helen Howard and Miss Myrtle Wiggs are taking a European side trip under the direction of one of Clark's Couriers, and I join them in London.

I will write next week of English life in the great city of London.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of to-day; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Flag Will Float.

Green River Lodge No. 54, I. O. O. F. will hoist the stars and stripes on its building tomorrow, in commemoration of the 88th anniversary of the organization of the Order in the United States. The lodge here is the largest fraternal order in the city and is in a most flourishing condition and is increasing in membership very rapidly.

DIED OF CONGESTION.

Mrs. Gregory Passes Away After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Mollie Gregory, widow of Col. Napoleon B. Gregory, died Monday night about 11 o'clock, at the home of Mr. Robert Wood, four miles south of the city, of congestion, following an attack of bilious colic. She was taken ill Saturday, but did not send for a physician until Monday. Monday evening she appeared to be improving, but in the night she became much worse and died as above stated.

The deceased, after the marriage of her adopted daughter, Mrs. Wood, who was formerly Miss Mattie Compton, had made her home with the couple. She was a sister of Messrs. E. D. Jones, of Rich, and John D. Jones, of Beverly, and was a native of Virginia. Her husband died several years ago. Mrs. Gregory was a member of the Methodist church and was a lady held in the highest esteem by every one who knew her. Funeral services were conducted at her late residence Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. T. Miller, of this city, and the interment took place in Riverside cemetery, a short service being held at the grave.

Will Get Artificial Leg.

Herbert Richards, who lost one of his legs in an accident on the I. C. railroad Dec. 12, will receive an artificial leg this week from a house in Michigan. His claim growing out of his misfortune will probably be compromised by the railroad company without litigation.

Holocaust at Fulton.

The residence of John Hadad, a Greek merchant at Fulton, was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

Four children, ranging in age from one to ten years, were burned to death.

The father, mother and two children narrowly escaped, their lives being saved by the timely arrival and rescue of neighbors.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

Dates For the Big Event Have Been Arranged.

The dates upon which the big May Music Festival will be held have been definitely decided, these being May 21, 22 and 23. These dates have been under consideration for some time, but it was not decided until yesterday that they would be suitable to all concerned.

Widespread interest in the musical festival has already been aroused. The proceeds are to be used for taking out some of the unsightly and objectionable posts and making other much needed interior changes in the tabernacle and also to buy new and more comfortable seats for the building. This in itself should be a sufficient inducement to cause everyone to do all in his power to advance the event in every way possible, did it not promise anything else.

A black and white photograph capturing a dramatic moment where a hot air balloon basket is being lowered or raised. The basket, a simple wicker structure, is suspended by a network of ropes that fan out across the sky. Two men are inside the basket; one is perched on the edge, reaching out, while the other is partially visible behind him. Below, a large, diverse crowd of people, including men, women, and children, is gathered on a rugged, rocky shoreline. Many of the people are looking upwards with expressions of interest and anticipation. The scene is set against a pale, overcast sky. The entire photograph is enclosed within a decorative border featuring a repeating geometric pattern.

READY TO ASCEND

More and more interest is being taken in ballooning in this country as the time approaches for the great international contest at St. Louis this coming summer, and people who have not had the opportunity to take the long journey of one who would have lacked the courage to venture had the opportunity for flight come, are now being attracted to the sport. It is to be caught up into the heavens and to be driven hither and thither by the wild winds like a bit of feeble cloud. The experiences have often been related, but the woman balloonist is still among the rare things of earth, and being as to her have not so often been told. There have been numerous women parachute jumpers in this country, but in the rest of the world, Europe, however, there are several daring women aeronauts, among them Princess di Teano. Of her ex-

The first thing that strikes me after becoming a convert to ballooning is the extraordinary ignorance of the general public as to the nature of sport. To begin with, an airman is firmly rooted in the human mind is that whichever way the wind is blowing, he will be blown down. He is not immediately and inevitably be carried out to sea and drowned the only other alternative is that the balloon should burst and he will be killed. So, when you are landed in fragments on Mother Earth. There seems no middle way between these two alternatives. The argumentative turn of mind that you will point out that on a tolerably calm and clear day there is no reason why you should be blown down. You are on the brink of the sea, for possessing eyesight and maps you can scarcely come on it unawares, and if you start to drift you can turn up the sails and are willing to risk it. If balloons do not burst through pure contrariness, and only a suicidally-inclined man would use them, you are not balloon and this court disaster. If you succeed in arguing out these two points, your friends will fall back on the fact that you are a man of good will. They will say they are bad sailors and would certainly be ill from the effects of a storm. You will be able to tell them when they are in the middle of a giddiness, and would not doubt to be overboard. Of giddiness I know nothing, having never experienced it. I have been sick when seasick or otherwise, but as to seasickness, I have no special assurance, for if anybody was likely to feel it in a balloon I should think it would be you. No seasickness for peace and a perfect rest. From the moment that the signal "Hands off!" is given and you have been told to get out of the balloon, the houses you may settle down among the ballast-bags for a happy day. The ballast-bags are made of lead and will travel with the wind, and therefore do not feel even the faintest breeze. There is no sense of motion, of course, and the ballast-bags are so heavy that nothing to jar or shake the car. The world is stretched beneath you as a large unrolled map of which you can

A few well-known places indicate your course, and are an ever-changing interest.

Sounds reach one from the earth with curious distinctness. Even at a considerable height I have often heard a dog barking from what seemed startlingly near, when we were really several thousand feet up, and a man on a road would only seem a tiny black speck at that dis-ance. The toot of a motor-horn and church bells are other sounds that carry very far, and constantly bring back to one's memory the existence of life on earth. Personally I do not care for the middle course in ballooning, but I like to see the balloons, the "swen" trailing and getting above the clouds. In the second case, there, indeed, the magic charm of the air is felt, and one can almost feel in another world and another life. The sun shines little in a blue sky, while beneath your little car and the clouds, over and through which you gently sail, the shadow of the balloons is distinctly outlined on the white mass of the clouds. The clouds are so marvelous; every cloud has a different color and a different shape. I have seen some purplish ones in the morning, and others actually across the sky, and great, spoked, gray, white ones coming down on the top of them, for all the world like the glimmers of the sun on the water of the sea. Then little detached white clouds, like small lebeers, would float across the darker mist, composed of the same material. A balloon would sail round the edge of some huge, solid-looking mass, that offered such delightful peepings at the clouds, and the sun, and the corns, and untrodden heights that one longed to anchor in one of its many little bays, and land in the new country country.

WALTER H. BENTLEY.

If you have once been in cloud-land you can never forget its charm, and even from solid earth and amongst life's busy occupations you look at the clouds with new eyes, for they are all old friends. You have been amongst them and know what they look like from the other side. I feel quite a sadness when it is necessary to leave cloud-land, and sink through the mist to see the world, with its white roads and clumps of trees, becoming visible again.

I am often asked what "trailing" means. The trail-rope, or guide-rope, that hangs from the balloon is generally 250 feet long, so that when you are trailing, you can be sure to have 50 feet of rope trailing over the country behind you. As soon as the end of the rope touches the ground you are trailing, and you must hold it but not pull the balloon forward, uniformly, keeping her always at the same height and enabling you to travel for quite a long time with very little expenditure of energy. The rope is strong and fun to pull, but it has its drawbacks. To begin with, people you meet imagine that, having descended so low, you wish to alight altogether, and they try to help you by pulling on the rope, thus interfering with capturing the balloon. A good deal of shouting is necessary to explain that it is not your intention, and some of the men get quite angry when they find that you do wish to alight in that way. The long, wriggling line of rope does not damage in the open country, but over houses and flower-beds it is a nuisance. The balloon is often wiser to sacrifice a little ballast and rise above other people's chimneys, pots. On a calm day it is easy to descend, and you can gently to the ground by simply opening the valve; and after you have stayed there long enough and wish to rise again, you can let out a large quantity of ballast you can easily rise again to quite a good height. Mr. F. H. Butler told me that in one of his flights he had to descend to the ground at least three times during the ten

Combination of Coal-Tar Derivatives.
(NON-CARBOLIC.)

A STANDARDIZED DISINFECTANT, ANTISEPTIC CLEANSER, DEODORIZER AND PURIFIER

Kresol possesses advantages which make it better and safer than any other material for household disinfecting, and it is preferable to carbolic acid, because it does not burn, is odorless of lime, coppers, etc., because

First. It is safe. In the dilution recommended it is practically non-poisonous, and can therefore be used freely, and is safe to have around. It is not caustic or irritating; it does not attack metals, and therefore does not destroy plumbing; it does not permanently stain washable fabrics.

Second. It is effective. Our laboratory tests require that in a 1% solution it must destroy the most resistant disease germ (the green pus germ) in one minute. It thus disinfects, cleanses and purifies. It destroys foul odors, not by substituting another, but by destroying the cause of this odor.

Third. It is standardized; always the same. You can depend upon it.

Kresol is particularly valuable in preventing an outbreak of contagious diseases, by destroying infection, cleansing, purifying and promoting sanitation. It is the ideal disinfectant for HOSPITALS, RAILWAY STATIONS, PUBLIC BUILDINGS, SCHOOL ROOMS, BATH-ROOMS, WATER CLOSETS, URINALS, KITCHEN SINKS, STORE ROOMS, OUT-DOOR, CARRIAGE BOXES, CESSPOOLS, STABLES, DOCK-KENNELS, CAGES, ETC.

For all general disinfecting purposes mix Kresol with water (warm preferred) in the following proportions:

1 tablespoonful Kresol, 3 pints water.
1 pint Kresol, 12 gallons water.
making approximately a 1-to-100 solution.
